

Cell Biology

Name:

Characteristics of Life Diagrams

Period:

In each of the boxes below, make a drawing to help you remember that particular characteristic that all living things share. You can use Chapter 2, Section 1 to help you

All living things have cells.

All living things sense and respond to change.

All living things reproduce.

All living things have DNA.

All living things use energy.

All living things grow and develop.